

Drawing based on:

Panoramic Postcard, State and Main Streets, New London

c. 1910

Gift of Charles Harvey, 1946.268.

Novelty postcards, like the 21" long panoramic postcard this coloring book scene was based on, were popular at the turn of the last century, especially as vacation souvenirs. This one captured the effect of standing on the corner of Main Street and State Street, New London, with the railway station and the Soldiers and Sailors Monument visible in the distance.

Full image looks like this

